

What about leave for moving ?

Employees who move house shall be entitled to extraordinary two-day leave, which however may be granted only once every three years in the employer's employ. The aim is to avoid any abusive claim on the part of employees. If employees change employer, the new employer does not have to verify whether an employer has already been granted such leave in the past 3 years. It is worth noting that if employees move house for professional reasons, the 3-year time limit does not apply.

This extraordinary two-day leave must be taken following the moving. It may not be postponed until the ordinary leave without the prior consent of the employer.
